Cititel Holiday Answering Services. The holidays can be stressful for some business owners, because they don't want to miss important calls and sales opportunities, but at the same time, they don't have a budget to pay a full time employee during these days.

Hiring a telephone answering company like Cititel seems to be the perfect solution to this problem, because they are available anytime you need them. And you can continue with the normal operation of your business, without pay a full time employee only for this time of the year.

Customers will appreciate getting an actual person when they call your office, rather than an automated machine. If you want to shut down your office from Christmas to New Year, no problem, our telephone answering service will ensure you get all the important messages. You can use us to cover holidays, sickness or just as a backup at certain times of the year.

Our highly trained answering service operators can provide a number of services, including:

- Responding to sales calls
- Assisting your customers
- Monitoring complaints
- Receiving and relaying messages
- Transferring calls
- Providing basic information such as pricing, hours and location
