Canada Lunch Hour Call Answering Services

Cititel Lunch Hour Answering Services. It's been said that every phone call represents an opportunity, whether for new business, serving an existing client or patient, or perhaps providing additional services to your current customers.

But when you miss the call? You could be losing, upsetting or letting down any number of people who need your help and support. Oftentimes, these missed calls could send callers right to your competition.

Customers will appreciate getting an actual person when they call your office, rather than an automated machine. During this times when your company is not available to take calls, for example during periods of lunch hours, our telephone answering service can help you to get all the important messages. You can use us to cover lunch hours, holidays, and sickness or just as a backup at certain times of the year.

Our highly trained answering service operators can provide a number of services, including:

- Responding to sales calls
- Assisting your customers
- Monitoring complaints
- Receiving and relaying messages
- Transferring calls
- Providing basic information such as pricing, hours and location
