Car Dealership Answering Services

Rev up your sales and keep customers happy.

The road to success starts with a fully-loaded answering service. To be successful in the automotive retail industry, it takes tenacity. Whether you're managing your inventory, problem solving with the service department, or making a sale on the lot, you probably don't spend very much time at your desk. When your phones ring, who is assisting your callers? If your answer is automated telephone answering or voicemail, then it's time to consider Cititel's answering service for car dealerships. It is a fact that 67% of customers will hang up the phone out of frustration if they can't speak to a real person. So without an answering service, time away from your desk could lead to missed sales opportunities and negative customer support experiences. Our live-voice operators can help.

We provide 24/7 representation of your brand, fostering fluid communication with your clients and potential buyers. In addition, our receptionists can schedule appointments, make outbound reminder calls, process orders and shipments for your service department.

Whether you are out on the lot or it's after office hours, our representatives reinforce your dedication to the customer. We know that 45% of business is lost because of poor customer service and we ensure that your clients are met with a courteous, knowledgeable agent whenever they contact you.
